

Phone Use Time VS Emotion Score by Content Type

As emotion score increases, phone use duration tends to increase. In addition, higher emotion scores are more often associated with the use of game content, which typically corresponds to longer phone use than other content types

